

a. What are the shortfalls and obstacles?	b. Ranking of importance*	c. Reasons for ranking
CAM/MYA: language barrier. do not understand Chinese regulations as info provided in Chinese Unclear documentation requirements. Why ACSIQ reject CCIC (third party inspection company) It would be good if ACSIQ to have office in CAM. Standardization CAM: Limited to export list In CAM 5 ministries are involved in safety and quality assurance. Coordination is difficult. China comes up with approved list of exports. CAM po products (cassava, black pepper, cashew nuts, longan, mango) PRC should allow more inspection agencies, not just CCIC as in CAM case. No leveled playing field for CAM food processing companies as Chinese prefer Chinese companies Only Chinese companies can import In CAM, lack of warehouses, cold storage facilities, post handling processing, proper packaging facilities.	For CAM, (1) the slow process of document approvals (2) only CCIC can inspect (3) lack of facilities (4) language barrier	PRC MOA and CAM MAFF should review the implementation of MOU and protocols esp involving ACSIQ protocols and requirements (maize, mango, banana, dragon fruit, longan, pepper)
MOU bet MYA and PRC to export rice. Slow p PRC to accelerate the speed the import/export procedure from GMS to PRC. Institution cooperation in signing MOUs. Application of quota for maize and rice.	Top obstacle for MYA: is (1) imposition of quota (2) slow process of approvals (3) language barrier	MOU bet MOALI (DOA) and PRC ACSIQ

Suggestion to lift quota (20,0000 tons of rice)

MYA would like to export fruits and vegetables to PRC with MOU (without MOU MYA can charge higher price) Chinese importers do not want to pay the tax

MYA: some provinces have additional procedures which they are not knowledgeable of.

MYA's quarantine and lab facilities are outdated. Lack of skilled personnel.
PRC providing aid to upgrade MYA labs

MYA (instant coffee, tea, rice crackers and noodles, avocado)

MYA already has trade committee bet provinces of PRC and MYA.

MYA had proposed to establish trade committee bet central government PRC and MYA. No response from PRC yet.
